Estate planning is more than just writing a will.

Last Will and Testament

One that clearly spells out what you want to have happen to your probate assets and possessions at your death. Without a will, the state may decide where your things are going to go.

Home Probate Avoidance

Keep your home out of the probate process and have it pass directly to the beneficiaries of your choosing with either a transfer on death deed or revocable living trust, depending on your state

Advance Healthcare Directive (Living Will)

Provide clear instructions as to what treatment you do and do not want if you are unable to speak for yourself. Plan for a medical emergency, select medical care preferences and choose a healthcare proxy.

Trust

Think of a trust as a container designed to hold money for your heirs. You decide what you're going to put into the trust, who gets what in the trust and how it is distributed.

Durable financial power of attorney

Assign the person who will make financial decisions if you are unable.

HIPPA Release Form

Allows named individuals to have access to healthcare information.
